

MEDIA RELEASE

For immediate release

October 29, 2021

2021 Flu Season

Northwestern Health Unit (NWHU) expects to see many people getting their flu shot this fall. Flu shots are available locally from some pharmacies, health care providers, and NWHU.

The public is encouraged to get their flu shot from a pharmacy or health care provider, or, in November from NWHU. In December, NWHU staff will be primarily focusing on COVID-19 vaccinations.

You can book your flu shot by contacting your local pharmacy or health care provider, or by visiting the health unit's booking website at: <https://clinicreservation.com/book-now>. More clinics will be added to the booking site as vaccine supply is received.

Protect yourself and everyone around you... get your flu shot!

MEDIA RELEASE

Media Contact:

Shannon Brown

Acting Manager, Vaccine Preventable Diseases

Northwestern Health Unit

jbegg@nwhu.on.ca