Health Unit launching telephone survey on mental health

Northwestern Health Unit (NWHU) has launched a telephone survey to learn more about local mental health-related perceptions, attitudes, and behaviours in our communities. Residents may get a call from Prairie Research Associates on NWHU's behalf. The call is legitimate, and the health unit encourages the public to participate in the survey.

Results of the survey will be shared with the public and partners in the early new year.

For more information about the survey, please contact Alex Berry, Manager of Foundational Standards and Communications at aberry@nwhu.on.ca .
